PIONEERS! O PIONEERS!

Come my tan-faced children,
Follow well in order, get your weapons ready,
Have you your pistols? Have you your sharp-edged axes?
Pioneers! O Pioneers!

For we cannot tarry here,
We must march my darlings, we must bear the brunt of danger,
We, the youthful sinewy races, all the rest on us depend,
Pioneers! O Pioneers!

All the past we leave behind,
We debouch upon a newer mightier world, varied world,
Fresh and strong the world we seize, world of labor and the march,
Pioneers! O Pioneers!

We, the first graduates of Tolleston High School, have chosen Progress as the theme of the 1937 Piencer, because we feel that we have played a vital part in the progress of our school. We wish to stimulate in the hearts of future high school students the desire to carry on this progress.

To that vast number

whose loyalty and interest have brought about the development and progress

of Tolleston School,

TIME MARCHES ON!

It was morning, the dawn of a memorable day, as Father Marquette saw for the first time this new land. No white man had touched this earth before him. No one had marred its natural beauty. Here was a voodland, a clear blue sky; here the birds sang, rejoicing in their freedom. Here the Indian dwelt, unharmed by white men's unwelcome presence. Father Marquette, standing on the shores of Lake Michigan, upon the very spot that we proudly call Marquette Park, silently thanked God for his faithful guid-The sun rose serenely above the bright blue water, and he knew that his work had truly begun. His land of opportunity lay before him, This was what he had prayed for, and now, his prayers answered, he must prove himself worthy. Day after day, Father Marquette worked faithfully among the Indians, who saw in him a reverent persevering man, busy in his task of teaching them to live and worship righteously. When Marquette and his small party left this region to resume their journey south, they had unknowingly planted the seed that later blossomed into a great Middle They had begun the westward expansion of a nation, so that it became, not thirteen small states, but fortyeight united sections of a powerful country.

After Father Marquette, came the hunters and trappers and later, the covered wagons. Each man was a pioneer, and each homestead, a thorn in the flesh of the wilderness. Many Indians were driven from their primitive dwellings and forced to seck refuge by moving westward and away from the intruding white man. In their tracks they left their knowledge of corn growing, of fishing, and of hunting.

Time marches on!

In 1837, 164 years after Father Marquette landed on the shore of Lake Michigan, the famous Gibson Inn was opened where Froebel School is now located. It was run by Mrs. Gibson primarily for the purpose of providing a lodging for stage coach travelers. There were only a few farms in this region, and Indians were still roaming the wilderness.

From Pittsburgh, in 1858, came George Tolle, a German manufacturer of surgical instruments. He invested a good deal in land in this region that later was named Tolleston in his honor. By 1862, most of the Indians had left, and in that year the first public school opened. Here, in a portable building, Miss Hattie Thomas taught ten pioneer pupils. Tolleston made slow progress until 1905, when the U.S. Steel Corporation began constructing the steel mills at the tip of Lake Michigan.

It was not long before Gary sprang up, providing homes for the mill workers. This community soon outgrew Tolleston, so in 1910, Tolleston was annexed to Gary. In that year the biggest property boom in history took place. Also, the Gary School System, founded by Mr. William A. Wirt, began to gain fame.

Time marches on!

Nineteen hundred and twenty-three marked the birth of Tolleston School. Mr. H. S. Jones, director of social studies, presided as principal during the first year. His saccessor was Miss Lola E. Pearcy. She led Tolleston through its development from a primary to a junior high school, and it was Miss Pearcy's fondest desire that Tolleston would some day graduate its first high school class. All her aims were directed toward this end, but she did not live to see her ambition fulfilled. In January, 1934, she quietly passed on, but the memory of her kindly spirit will forever remain dear to the hearts of all who knew her.

Mr. James W. Standley became principal in 1934. His progressive ideas and plans began to take form when it was announced that Tolleston would at last have a senior high school. Therefore, each following year an additional grade was added.

Time marches on!

The day is almost here when Tolleston will graduate its first senior class. On that day the dreams of Father Marquette, George Tolle, Miss Thomas, Miss Pearcy, Mr. Standley, and every loyal Tollestonian will be realized. But this is not the end, by any means, for time will march on, and with it will march the progress of Tolleston.

SENIOR FAREWELL

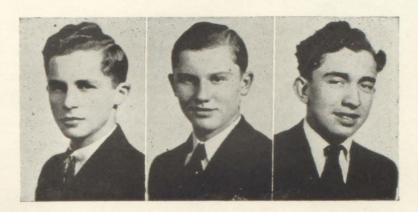

Farewell, school, friends, teachers, all:
To you I make this last clear call.
With a steady, but sorrowful tone-Farewell! I say to you alone.

Words that are hard for me to express, But which I try to deeply stress, Trivial to you they may seem--To me they fulfill a youthful dream.

Thank you, dear teachers, for your success In bringing us this great happiness. You who have helped us as the years go by--Now view the first graduates of Tolleston High.

TOLLESTON'S FIRST GRADUATING CLASS

In 1934, when Mr. James W. Standley came to Tolleston School as principal, the work was planned so that students might complete their entire high school course here. Owing to this arrangement, this year's 90 Seniors have the honor of being the first graduating class.

Because the Seniors have advanced with the school, they are charter members of several clubs and organizations. They have held high offices in the Student Council since it was first organized. The class of "37" also boasts quite a few students who have been leaders in other important school activities, including sports. Practically all of the varsity teams are composed of Seniors.

One of the former members designed the official Tolleston School seal. The Editorin-Chief, Assistant Editor, Art Editor, and a majority of the Pioneer Staff are Seniors. The candy sales which aid in financing the publication of the Pioneer have been successfully managed by Senior girls.

The graduating class is very proud of all that it has accomplished and contributed to Tolleston School in the last four years and sincerely hopes that it has set a worthy precedent for future Senior classes.

JUNIOR CLASS

CLASS OF 1938

The class of 1938, which will be the second graduating class of Tolleston, held a meeting early in the year. Officers elected were as follows: president, Kenneth Romine; vice president, Allen Sheldon; and secretary-treasurer, Merle Lay. Due to the fact that Kenneth Romine is graduating in 1937, his resignation was accepted and Allen Sheldon became president. Everett McConnachie was elected the new vice president. The class sponsors are Mrs. Mildrod Gilpin, Miss Anne Marsh, and Mr. George Crane.

The Junior Class participated in most of the school activities both curricular and extra-curricular. Many Juniors were active in the Booster Club, Spanish Club, Latin Club, German Club, Social Club, and Dramatic Club. Chester Jamski, a Junior, is editor of the Tolly-Times, and many Juniors make up the reporters' staff of the paper. Representatives for the Student Council for the Junior Class are Florence Stasco, Ralph Orth, Herman Bode, and Eugene Vrabec. The Juniors presented as their class play "The Goose Hangs High." Members of the cast were Sam Vician, Florence Stasco, Merle Hodge, Daphne O'Dell, Ralph Orth, Bertha Mackey, Rose Thrall, Ann Boltich, Eva Poyis, Merle Lay, Eugene Vrabec, Donald Sics, and Chester Jamski.

The Class of 1938 had an ample representation of Juniors in this year's sports for boys. Pete Grobauskus, Ira Aubachon, William Schmidt, Tony Lazar, and Ed Karski helped to make up the basketball team. The Juniors on the football teams were Everett McConnachie, Abner Gile, Peter Grobauskus, Edward Tokar, Frank Kaonrath, Ed Karski, Herman Bode, and William Schmidt. Junior track representatives were William Schmidt and Ralph Orth.

Although the Class of 1938 was unfortunate in losing some of its members when a few became eligible to graduate in 1937, it will be fortunate in having some of the class of 1939 join next year.

The outstanding social event was the Junior-Senior Ball which was held at the Masonic Temple, June 12.

GIRLS: ATTLETIC ASSOCIATION

On November 18, 1935, the first meeting of the Girls' Athletic Association directed by Miss Smith got under way. Since then, the girls' sport years have been overflowing with a number of zealously contested battles, not only here at school but with any challenges they have had from other schools. At the meeting introducing the Association, elections were held, and the following girls were selected as officers: Irene Boerg, president; Betty Magura, vice president; Josephine Malizzo, secretary; and Margaret Stepita, treasurer. However, upon the withdrawal of the vice president and secretary, only two officers of the four remain; no elections have been held to fill the vacancies. It-was decided by the Association that each year a School will fill the presidential chair.

Among the many activities of the club have been tournaments in tennis, basketball, captainball, volley ball, handball, baseball, and track.

A system of points has been instituted by the G. A. A. Any girl making a team receives points which, if when totaled at the end of her senior year reaches 1000, entitles her to purchase a pin. If she attains a sum of 1500 points or more, she has earned a sweater. The Seniors earning such awards have been Alfrieda Katzendorfer, Irene Boerg, Irene Romanov, Mollie Odorizzi, Phyllis Bielak, Eileen Romine, and Bernice Brugos.

Aside from sports, the association has had quite a few social affairs. The two major events were the yearly banquet held in June of and the St. Valentine's Dance. At the banquet a medal was awarded Rose Thrall for being the outstanding athlete, and the girls received their sweaters at the dance.

Practically every girl in high school is a member of this association, but not all girls made teams. The following comprised the various sport teams: FRESHERM -- Anna Saynak, Helen Apostal, Irene Kratkoczki, Marcella Griffin, Betty Forster, Grace Yaruitis, Lillian Taub, Helen Harms, Beryl Bean, Marion Bartos, Kathryn Dimitri, Lorotta Kretz, Adele Dakin, Wanda Atchison, Irene Single, Anna Dranchak, Irene Hansen, Doris Powers, Florence Dembicki, Lillian Krakowiak, Margaret Susla. Tolleston! Let us all unite and sing, Tolleston! We praise your worthy name; Tolleston! Loud let your accents ring, Tolleston! With still increasing fame.

Chorus:

Rah! Rah! Rah! Come cheer for Tolleston! Sis! Boom! Bah! For you we'll work with zest. Win or lose we're loyal everyone. Cheer, cheer for Tolleston, the school we all love best.

BEAT THE OPPONENT

Fight that team across the field Show them that Tolleston's here. Set the earth reverberating with a mighty cheer—Rah! Rah! Rah!

Hit them hard and see how they fall, Never let that team get the ball; Hail! Hail! The gang's all here, So, let's beat the opponent now.

YELLS

Yea, Blue! Yea, White! Yea, team! Let's fight!

Aim 'em high! Pass 'em low! Come on, team! Let's go!

Tolleston! Tolleston! Look at that score — Come on, Raiders! We want more!

Are they Raiders? Yeah! Do they fight? Oh! ——Yeah.

We see a good team. Where? There! (Point to opponents.) We see a better team. Where? There! (Point to Tolleston.)

Your pep, your pep. You've got it, now keep it. Doggone it, don't lose it. (Repeat.)

Yea! Blue—Yea! White— Come on, team—Make them fight!!

COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

Our Commercial Department, which was first organized three years ago has grown considerably in both size and favor under the direction of Miss Catherine Burke. It has been her aim to guide and prepare students to go out into the world as well-trained business people.

This department offers a two-year course in Gregg shorthand, a subject which has been a great asset to many in climbing the ladder to business success. Bookkeeping, a one-year course, teaches the transaction of business as it would be done in an office. This has been one of the school's most popular subjects.

Persons having accomplished successfully twelve semesters of this commercial work are entitled to receive, at the end of the four years of high school, a vocational diploma as evidence of their commercial achievement. This year Tolleston presented twenty-eight of these awards for satisfactory accomplishment.

Due to the faithful and efficient work of the Commercial Department, we have been able to publish, every three weeks, our own school paper, the TOLLY-TIMES, as well as the Tolleston School Ammal, the PIONEER.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Tolleston is now offering its students thorough training in metal-work, woodwork, and drafting. The pupils working in the woodshop are under the direction of Mr. Skaggs. The woodshop has been enlarged and equipment has been added. Also a new metal shop was built, and new tools and machines were purchased. The metal shop is under the instruction of Mr. Flick. All kinds of metalwork are being done including a tin-can project. Mr. Flick also teaches mechanical drawing. The students taking mechanical drawing are started off with practical drawings. Later they specialize in one course such as engineering or architecture.

NIGHT SCHOOL

Night School at Tolleston is offered every Tuesday and Thursday from seven to nine P.M. It is open to adults who are unable to attend day school. Many have found this a wonderful opportunity. The subjects taught are metal shop, wood shop, history, English, typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, and gymmasium.

Also every Tuesday night, the Social Club, which is under the direction of Miss Esther Ennis, meets in the gymnasium. Ir. Bellmar furnishes the music for dancing.

Thursday night is community night. There are programs of different kinds which are presented by the students. Mr. A. H. Jones has been very successful in securing excellent films for the enjoyment of the audience.

We, the first Tolleston Senior Graduating Class of 1937, which is so unusually gifted, have reached an obstinate resoluteness to bestow upon the youthful Juniors the things that have made us outstanding as Seniors. It is our intense desire to protect you and accommodate you from the pitfalls of the remaining days of your school career. For four years we have unparsimoniously guided you through diversified and laborious tasks, but now when we are gone, you must battle alone. We do not know whether you will succeed without our assistance, but with the pleasant memory of your First Noble Senior Graduating Class, there is a fair chance of your reaching the goal for which you are striving.

We perceive the efficiency you lack as leaders of the school in vindicating the tasks which we have so masterfully and discernibly directed this last year; but with these gifts which we bequeath to you, we wish you success and the best of luck. CLASS PROPHECY

The crash of thunder heralded the coming of the long awaited storm and the sudden fury of a new born wind vanquished Mr. Standley's last hope of reaching his hotel. A stranger in this Spanish town, he did not know where to seek shelter. But from the distance he heard the faint melody of the Spanish Bolero. The next streak of lightning revealed to him a large tent in the near distance. As he came nearer, the tango rhythm became louder. Then he saw a figure approaching him, asking him to join her friends in the rendezvous. Mr. Standley, cold and shivering from the rain, gladly consented and she directed him to a fire. The senorita then explained to Mr. Standley that she would take him to the "High Spots" of the world for only $1500. This being his secret ambition, he nodded his head in reply. She then took him to another section of the large tent where he could scarcely hear the laughter and music of the Spaniards. After being comfortably seated, the lady proceeded to make several odd gestures and Mr. Standley started on his trip.

As he was passing the White House, he saw Albert Lacey, our new President, in conference with his Cabinet, which consisted of Secretary of Treasury, Joe Antos; Secretary of Commerce, Thad Kalinowski; Secretary of Labor, Vera Roski.

Passing the Civic Opera House, he sees Marianne Zaloudek seated at the grand piano, her skilful fingers glide masterfully over the keys in accompaniment to Emily Winges whose rich, melodious voice entrances the attentive audience.

Evening is approaching as he enters New York. He sees a rambunctious crowd of people standing before a night club called Tolleston High Hatters." Here, serving as a loquacious master of ceremonies, he finds Albert Dawson. In this, one of the night spots of New York, the colossal hit show of the season is being presented by those Three Musketeers, none other than Trene Boerg, the blues singer; Emilie Padol, dancer; and Eleanor Romanowski, pianist.

Suddenly something startled Sir Standley as he spied a sign saying, "Slota Sisters Snappy Shoe Salon, Snazzy Shoe Styles for Society Saps, Sale Starting Sunday."

Over on Fifth Avenue he spies Ed Guzik's Grand Hotel and John Komanecki's Beauty Shoppe.

On Coney Island he sees the usual patronizers of the place, Margaret Tokash, Blythe Strickland, Anna Boblo, and Tred Troutman, munching a "Spicy Onion" hamburger for only 10¢.

While enjoying the Barnum and Bailey Circus, he sees John Brown as the "Man on the Flying Trapeze", and Josephine Bartkus appears high above his head, riding a bicycle on the tight rope. Maree Friess keeps the crowd in fine spirits with her unusual acrobatics. Outside, Lucille Czarneki, the girl who dines regularly on fire, is seen quietly partaking of a glass of cold water while Martha Mackey, the bearded lady, looks on.

Leaving the bright lights of New York behind him, he travels slowly westward. Having viewed the beauteous scenery of the intervening states, he arrives in our fair state of Indiana. In Michigan City he sees an old student, "Dead Eye Bartos" -- as the warden of the State Prison.

In Logensport he comos upon Margaret Stepita and Grace Rapmond in the Insane Asylum -- as ambitious matrons.

His sight-seeing trip carries him into the heart of Gary. As he idly scans the Gary Post Tribune , he reads the following news items: "Peter Cretton, handsome detective, captures notorious outlaw." "Phyllis Bielak is made Matron of School for Girls." "Bette Provence, 'yell' leader for Northwestern, collapses after a game of strenuous cheering." "Frank Gavelok is elected State Treasurer." "Frank Maleck, famous brain surgeon, performs successful operation on Ed Jablonski, Manager of the Safety Pin Company. The assisting nurse was Eleanor Editz." "William Waichulis, botanist, discovers new plant through process of hybridization." "Joe Szybala discovers new cure for measles." "Tony Valaika invents airplane without wings." "Leroy Carlson defeats Bill Tilden to win Davis Cup." "Bernice Brugos, winner of World Walkathon, survives after 179 days of walking." "Casimer Norwaish receives first prize in the Nation's Art Contest." "Bernice Henke and Walter Pysh, world famous roller skaters, are back in Gary, after a world tour." "John Andrey takes lead in the play, "The Seven Mysterious Keys to Tolleston." "Helen Waite marries a well known druggist." "Donna Sines escapes train accident with minor injuries." "Paul Quillin becomes new manager of Bear Brand." In the Want Ad Section, Mr. Standley notices that Teddy Moncilovich's Hardware Store is having a fire sale.

Now he catches a bit of the city life. He meets Eddie Fabrici, superintending the construction of a 93 story building on 11th and Rutledge. He sent fruit and encouragement to Mike Tall, prominent actor of the Civic Theater, who is recovering from a lingering illness. In the office of John Klym, the attorney, he observes Mary Belle filing a claim for a million dollar inheritance: Wendell Bean is receiving a patent for a cornet which will play without blowing. All these cases seem to keep the office girl, Dorothy Haussman, quite busy. Superintendent of Schools, John McClure, is having a conference with Ken Romine, the new principal They are discussing two new teachers, Helen Mueller of Tolleston. and Stella Zaremba. Mike Babinchak looks impressive as the head of a chain of grocery stores. Marie Johnson keeps busy as the head librarian of the Gary Library. Florence and Marjorie Morse look prosperous. They operate the Two Sisters Beauty Salon. Wanda Kolodziej, a loquacious saleslady, tries to sell ladies' hats. Bert Mesarch, with his orchestra, is appearing at the K of C ballroom. Alice Dembicki is scheduled to appear at the Memorial Auditorium next Sunday afternoon with her concert band. Hany of the members of this group were members of the Tolleston School Band. On 7th Avenue he sees Peg Benson, owner of the Lennox Hat Shop, conversing with Helen Macey, proprietor of Pearson's Apparel. He encounters Mary Rose on her way to work and congratulates her for the new typewriting record she set. He lunches with Richard Fulwider, who is under contract to build the bridge across Lake Michigan from Chicago to South Bend. (Con't. on page 87.)

Now he passes a theater in Gary, the Palace, where Alfrieda Katzendorfer, is doing her sensational tap dance. For additional entertainment they see Mollie Odorizzi and Irene Romanov doing their uncensored South American tango; they are dancing gracefully to the hot rhythm Tony Steponaitis' orchestra.

Still moving westward he enters the great city of Chicago. The bright lights of the Trianon, the world's greatest ballroom, attract him. Featured this week is Pete Rogers' famous waltz orchestra. He is presenting George Perzo, vocalist; and George Reside and Thelma Strange, new dance team discovered by Veloz and Yolanda.

On into the West he goes, passing meadows, rivers, and lakes. A new sight comes to view-a range. Here he recognizes Herbert Pahl riding on a horse like a flash of lightning-almost losing his life to save a dashing blonde actress, Harriette Sobotko, from being kidnapped by a young villain, Frank Lozier. They are the leading characters in the Paramount picture, "We Hail from Tolleston", Hollywood's outstanding production directed by none other than Steve Paczolt.

Upon reaching San Francisco he sails for the Orient. On the boat he encounters Eileen Romine as the ship's nurse trying to soothe several cases of sea-sickness. Enroute he stops at the Hawaiian Islands. He is entranced by the soft dreamy music of Hawaiian guitars under the able direction of Eddie Roskowski. Dancing entertainment is being provided by Marion Ballogg. On the other side of the garden he sees the athlete, Andy Guba, teaching the "Hulas" athletics. In another romantic spot beneath the palm trees, he sees John Lewontuk, a handsome bachelor (in his early twenties), proposing to a beautiful Hawaiian maiden.

In South America he finds Ruth Papka busy converting pagans, among whom we find Henry Hallman. Claude Truax and Merrie Shumylo are her able assistants.

Upon reaching Europe, he enters Italy, where he is very hospitably treated by John Vespo, owner of a chain of cafes. In Holland he sees Hester Holland writing a letter to her boyfriend in Milwaukee.

It was dawn when Mr. Standley awoke from his trance. For a moment he was dazed -- then he remembered the storm and the Spaniards. Just then the Senorita entered inquiring how he enjoyed his trip and asking for her money. As he was reaching for the required sum, he asked if that was a true prediction for the First Graduation Class of Tolleston; she answered boldly that she would give him the information as soon as he .gave her the money. But to his dismay he discovered he had in his change purse only $1000.00. The lady told him he would never know the truth about the class of '37 because he was $500 short.

After his breakfast the kind Spaniard directed him to his hotel from which, a day later, he returned to America and to Tolleston High
